DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 6, 7, 12-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for at least four carbons, e.g. butane, does not reasonably provide enablement for the instant “at least two carbon atoms” (see dependent claim 6, 12). The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2 and 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Park et al. (Nature 404, 265-267, March 2000)

Regarding independent claim 1 and dependent claims 2 and 6-8, Park et al. teaches a solid oxide fuel cell wherein a dry fluid fuel such as n-butane or methane, inter alia, is contacted to the anode electrode. (page 2, also applies to dependent claims 6-8) The voltage potential is 0.4 V for dry n-butane. (page 3, applies to dependent claim 2)

Art Unit: 1745

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3-5 and 9-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Park et al. as applied to claims 1, 2 and 6-8 above.

The teachings of Park et al. are discussed above and are applied to independent claim 11 and dependent claims where noted. Park further teaches that the anode electrode comprises a porous YSZ layer of Cu-ceria. (page 2, applies to dependent claims 3-5) The Cu is at 40% and the ceria is at 20% by weight. (page 1, applies to dependent claims 9-10)

Regarding claims 3 and 11-16, as to a melting point of less than about 1550 °C, the Cu metal specifically disclosed by Park et al. would naturally flow to inherently have the same melting point of the Cu metal as claimed, absent of a showing by applicant that the claimed invention distinguishes over the reference. In re Best, 195 USPQ at 433, footnote 4 (CCPA 1977) and In re Spada, 15 USPQ 2d 1655 (Fed. Cir. 1990) A melting point of less than about 1550 °C of the Cu metal disclosed in Park et al. is an inherent property per se.

Double Patenting

Claims 1-7, 10-13, 15 and 16 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of double patenting over claims 6-11 of U. S. Patent No. 6,589,680 B1 (hereinafter the '680 patent) since the claims, if allowed, would improperly extend the "right to exclude" already granted in the patent.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the patent and is covered by the patent since the patent and the application are claiming common subject matter, as seen in claims 6-11 of the '680 patent.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant was prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application during prosecution of the application which matured into a patent. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

Art Unit: 1745

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Murray et al. (Nature 400, 649-651, August 1999) is cited to teach dry oxidation of hydrocarbons in SOFCs. U.S. Pat. 6,214,485 B1 to Barnett et al. is cited for similar reasons.
